The Refuge

TONI MCKINLEY, M.A., LPC

Toni McKinley is the Director of Therapeutic Services at The Refuge for Domestic Minor Sex Trafficking in Austin, Texas. She has been counseling survivors of sex trafficking for 4 years and is a survivor of trafficking herself. Toni teaches, and speaks locally and around the nation, about how her personal life has been affected by trafficking, as well as trauma informed care and awareness so others can be educated on what to look for and how to stop it in their communities.

We are thrilled to host the opportunity to participate in the Dove Tile Project at the 2017 Fall Cosmo Camp! Dove Tiles symbolize hope and healing. They are hand-painted with your prayers and your words of inspiration to inspire the young survivors of sex trafficking while they are reclaiming their lives. Ahead of the camp, think of an inspirational word or phrase that you would like to include on your tile.

The Dove Tiles will be placed into tessellated murals all over the 50 acres of The Refuge Ranch. Originally, the plan was just have one mural outside in the common area of The Studio building. But so many people wanted to have a hand's-on way to show the girls that they really do care, so The Dove Tile Project was born. Now we now have over 5000 tiles!

The beauty of this project is that it not only raises awareness about an overlooked crime in our society that desperately needs attention, but also demonstrates how the power of a community can really have an impact on the future of these girls' lives. The hope is that each girl will recognize not only the physical beauty of the tile murals, which will appear throughout The Refuge Ranch, but also that people have been thinking about and praying for their peace and healing long before they even came to The Refuge.
